Since the law changed on August 27th, the single sports betting market in Canada has been thriving.

Though without an NFL, MLB and NBA franchise, the Edmonton Oilers and Calgary Flames are the local-based NHL teams and they lead the Alberta sports betting scene.

Knowing the key differences, between sports lotteries in Canadian provinces and online wagering websites, let's dig to the core of online gambling.

That is similar to cross-sport betting, offered by many online bookmakers, though without a choice of 100+ international markets to select from.
