Introduction to baccarat

But a larger understanding of the game and the use of strategy can be beneficial.

The banker and player are the two hands in the game and the aim is to be the hand with the highest value (closest to nine).

Nine is the highest possible hand value in baccarat, and hands are valued according to units digit of the sum of their constituent cards.

On screen you will see the playing table where cards are dealt.

You start by clicking to place your bet on player, banker, or tie.

The game setup will work exactly like normal, but all bets, wins, and losses are of fake money only.

06% respectively, but the tie bet has a high house edge of 14.

It's what most of us imagine when we talk about horse racing, and it essentially involves a given number of jockeys, racing their horses across a flat race course.

All of the above-mentioned races are Grade 1 flat races, with other notable mentions including the Osaka Hai, the Queen Elizabeth II Cup, and the Sprinters Stakes.

It's easy to follow, which also makes it easier to bet on, though don't be fooled - you'll still need a nose for these things, if you're going to win big!

As its name suggests, jump racing is basically an obstacle race, which makes it that much more exciting for the seasoned horse race aficionado.

It spans a truly impressive 4,250 metre length, and is open to thoroughbreds for your years and older.

Inaugurated in 1999, the Nakayama Grand Jump is open to international contestants, as well.

Situated in the Tokachi region, Obihiro is known for its impossibly low temperatures, which only adds to the race difficulty, with horses having to run in temperatures as low as -20 C.

Races are typically held most weeks, and differ largely from flat and jump racing, focusing more on endurance than speed or accuracy.

Let's dive into the details of each of these steps.
