A rising number of youths in Korea are getting addicted to online gambling.

In a survey of 18,444 students, around 26 percent said they have played a gambling game on the internet in the last three months, and 4.

“Students have had greater accessibility to gambling sites since they have been highly online during the Covid-19 pandemic,” said a 37-year-old counselor at Paichai High School in Gangdong District, eastern Seoul.

“There are some stats that say the number of counseling cases for youth gambling has declined, but this is because students are not physically coming to school.
