It is best practice to keep records of all your sports betting activity.

Most taxpayers can only deduct their sports betting losses to the extent of their sports betting and gambling winnings.

For example, if you have $10,000 of winnings and $5,000 of losses, you can deduct $5,000 of losses.

However, if you have $5,000 of winnings and $10,000 of losses, you can only deduct $5,000 of losses.

If that happens, contact the sportsbook or gambling company and request a corrected tax form with the appropriate amount of winnings.

If you need tax help, Rocket Lawyer can now match you with a tax pro for affordable and convenient tax filing services.
