In short the 1X2 Bet Tips are provided to show you what the final outcome of a game is likely to be, so it only takes into account the final score of the game at 90 mins.

If you are new to betting on this market or 1x2 predictions are something you have not seen before then it can be a little confusing to understand at first, so let us break down what all the options actually mean:

2 - If the tip is showing 2, then the algorithm believes that the away team is going to be victorious in this fixture and that you should back the Away Win option in the Full-Time Result list.

- If the tip is showing as 1X, then this is slightly more complicated as it is offering two potential outcomes for the game.

In this instance it is saying that the game will be a Home Win OR a Draw. It can sometimes be called Away Win or Draw.

12 - Finally, if the tip is showing 12 then this means that either the Home Team OR the Away Team will win the game.
