Although some live casinos are huge, the floor space they have isn't unlimited, meaning they have to be selective with their games.

In contrast, online casinos don't have the same restrictions and this means they're able to offer more variations of a single game.

Thus, while a live casino will generally pick one or two variants of blackjack (often based on their personal preferences), an internet gaming room will offer a large variety of real money gambling games.

You should also expect to see more than the average percentage payout. For example, North American roulette has a slightly different structure than European roulette and because of this the latter is a more lucrative option for players.

These geographical factors don't have an impact on internet casinos as they exist in virtual space without borders.

When putting these factors together into a single platform it becomes clear that freedom is the main reason why online casinos are more profitable than live venues.

A player has more choice and isn't bound by certain local restrictions, meaning online sites can offer a greater range of high payout options on the real cash games.
