First you would have to determine when it was shipped and by shipped I mean when the carrier service received the package and then determine when it should have been delivered. Then you can claim a refund on the shipping cost the next day A funds claims.

Can I ask for a refund of the delivery fee ($3.99) if I paid for nominated day delivery but it failed to arrive on that day?

regardless of the Prime 2-day "promise." Now? It's taking a week or longer for things to ship. For example: I ordered some clay cutters, nearly a week later, nothing had happened. I inquired, and BOOM, they finally "shipp ed" with next day arrival.
