Since most people bet using the moneyline rather than the spread, the key numbers are most applicable to betting baseball totals.

If you think a pitching match-up is going to produce a low scoring game, the difference between a total of 7 and 7.

Our guides provide a lot of helpful advice on various strategies and this is a good one to have in your Swiss Army Knife of ways to attack lines and totals.

The chances that a single game ends on a key number is significant.

A six point teaser that goes from two to eight crosses two key numbers and has a lot more value than a similar move like +3.

Blindly betting on key numbers is not a winning formula.

Particularly with teasers and parlays, the more games that are involved, the more likely you are to reap the rewards of utilizing a key number, or pay the price for playing against them.

“Why is this important?” we hear you ask.

Now multiply that by six (96), and you have an overwhelming amount of face cards that, should they all get clumped together in a shoe, could cause chaos for the house.

For cards with a value of 2 through 6, a count of +1 is added to the score;

In most “normal” shoe games, the deck is cut approximately one deck’s worth (50 cards) from the end.

Many Live Casinos use automatic or continuous shufflers which prevent players from getting a count as the cards are continuously shuffled.

For Live Casinos that use a shoe, you’ll often find that the dealer will cut the six to eight decks down the middle, eliminating half the shoe, and crushing any advantage a card counter will gain
